THE STUDENTS OF

NEW DORP HIGH SCHOOL

So Many Worlds, So Much To Do

In the process of becoming educated, we are exposed to theorems, dates, laws, and rules. These are the components of the scholastic phase of school. There is yet another phase of knowledge, important and real, and each of us will, in the course of a lifetime, "encounter for the millionth time the reality of experience." Experience touches so many worlds; it is so many worlds. It is the world of society, the world of business, the world of books—together, these form the world of knowledge. Knowledge is not merely learning a mathematical theorem or following the subtleties of Milton and Shakespeare. These are, indeed, a portion of learning; yet, they are a small portion. The Universe of Knowledge is infinite as long as men have the will to forge ahead, to ponder the unanswerable, to explore "new frontiers," to dream impossible dreams. This universe is composed of "so many worlds, so much to do." For each of us the choice of worlds is difficult; yet, the choice is irresistible.

New Dorp High School, a microcosm of the huge universe, has offered to us, its students, a mere taste of some of these worlds which serve as points of departure for those engaged in the acquisition of knowledge. There are at New Dorp two main worlds, the scholastic and the social, overlapping, meeting, dividing into even smaller worlds.

The scholastic world at New Dorp has offered the student education and acknowledgment of achievement. This acknowledgment, in the form of honor keys, certificates, and awards, leads into still another world. In this world the student is offered fine teaching, guidance, and participation in extra-curricular activities which increase our knowledge and experience. In this world we must be the ones to act, to rise up from our comfortable seats and accept and use these rewarding offerings.

Socially, New Dorp has a huge array of worlds, beginning with G.O. Dances and ranging to the Debate Society and French Club. Each has a different aim and program; yet all accomplish the same goal—experience in the social world.

More even than extra-curricular social activity, the social worlds open to the students during the school day are rewarding. A microcosm of the "adult" world of business, the halls during changing of classes are a miniature Wall Street or Broadway. Here the worlds of social life open for every student.

Each world of New Dorp is unique, yet analogous to the others. Each offers much, yet requires that much be done in return. It is a replica of the world we face upon graduation.

There are many worlds to conquer and many more to discover. It is the teenager who will become the conqueror and explorer of tomorrow. The responsibility he will face as an adult is much greater than that which confronted past generations. He is living in a "new world" which is undergoing a radical and unprecedented change. It is estimated that during the 20th century, man will more than double his knowledge. It is not difficult to see why today's high school student must be made aware of the many worlds ahead as well as of the common problems he must face while treading the long, and sometimes frightening, journey through these worlds. He will have to prove that man is capable of dealing with the power that this increased knowledge has given him. In short, he will have to see that this power is directed toward human betterment and not self-destruction. In order to create a society that is able to handle the growing pains of our new world, we must take our young minds and mold them into capable and responsible tools which, in turn, shall be used to mold our future world into one without social or economic strife.

Today's world is a different one from that of twenty years ago, and twenty years from now our world will again be different. We have so many worlds ahead of us and so much to do. The condition of those worlds will be determined by our success, and the success of our children, in the proper disposal of our increased knowledge, so that some day the supreme goal of humanity may be attained. High school prepares our youth to embark on a journey through new worlds which are separated only by the passing of time.

So when we speak of "so many worlds" we refer not only to the innumerable facets of present-day life, but also to future generations which will create many worlds in the realms of time. There is "so much to do" in preparation of these realms by the manifestation of man's ability to use the tools of knowledge wisely and to deal with the challenges of nature.

New Dorp High School has offered new challenges, new horizons, new worlds. It has given knowledge where there was ignorance and courage where there was fear. It has given us the will and the impetus to study. It has encouraged us to progress and to be satisfied only when we have achieved a rich measure of success. It has given us insight into our world, into our neighbors, and into ourselves. We have learned much of the academic and social worlds. Throughout our four years we have accepted education and guidance; we have tried to give in return effort, scholarship, ability, and respect. New Dorp and our senior class, for the past four years, have been reaping the rewards of this mutual exchange. This rapport benefits both the graduating seniors and the faculty.

When we leave New Dorp, we leave behind us merely the building, carrying with us its traditions and teachings. We also carry with us a respect and a love for our school, which impressed upon us the realization of our place in the world, not only of today, but also of tomorrow. Our roles must be fulfilled. We must assert ourselves and take our place in society.

Graduating from New Dorp High School, we are confident that it has prepared us for the challenges ahead. And though we leave these worlds to enter new ones, we are sure that these four years have been rewarding ones.

And so, the Seniors of 1966 wish to thank New Dorp for enabling us to become more knowledgeable, more mature, and better able to accept the challenges of the future. We are beginning to realize that life is comprised of "so many worlds, so much to do." And we must do our part, so that our society may prosper and we may live full and happy lives.

Class of June 1966
Ladies and Gentlemen:

Congratulations upon your successful completion of your high school course! Your well-deserved diploma commends you for SCHOLARSHIP, CITIZENSHIP, AND BEHAVIOR. How sweet it is to taste the fruits of victory.

Yet, you cannot rest because life is forever evolving and you must move ahead now to further study, or to a job, or the Armed Forces. Whatever path you decide to follow, you will be accompanied by our prayers and best wishes.

We have added a new tradition to our school ★ The Alumni Hall of Fame ★ in order to inspire our graduates to achieve success in the world beyond the classroom. We hope to hear wonderful news about you!

Cordially yours

Joseph Bellafiore

SENIOR DAY

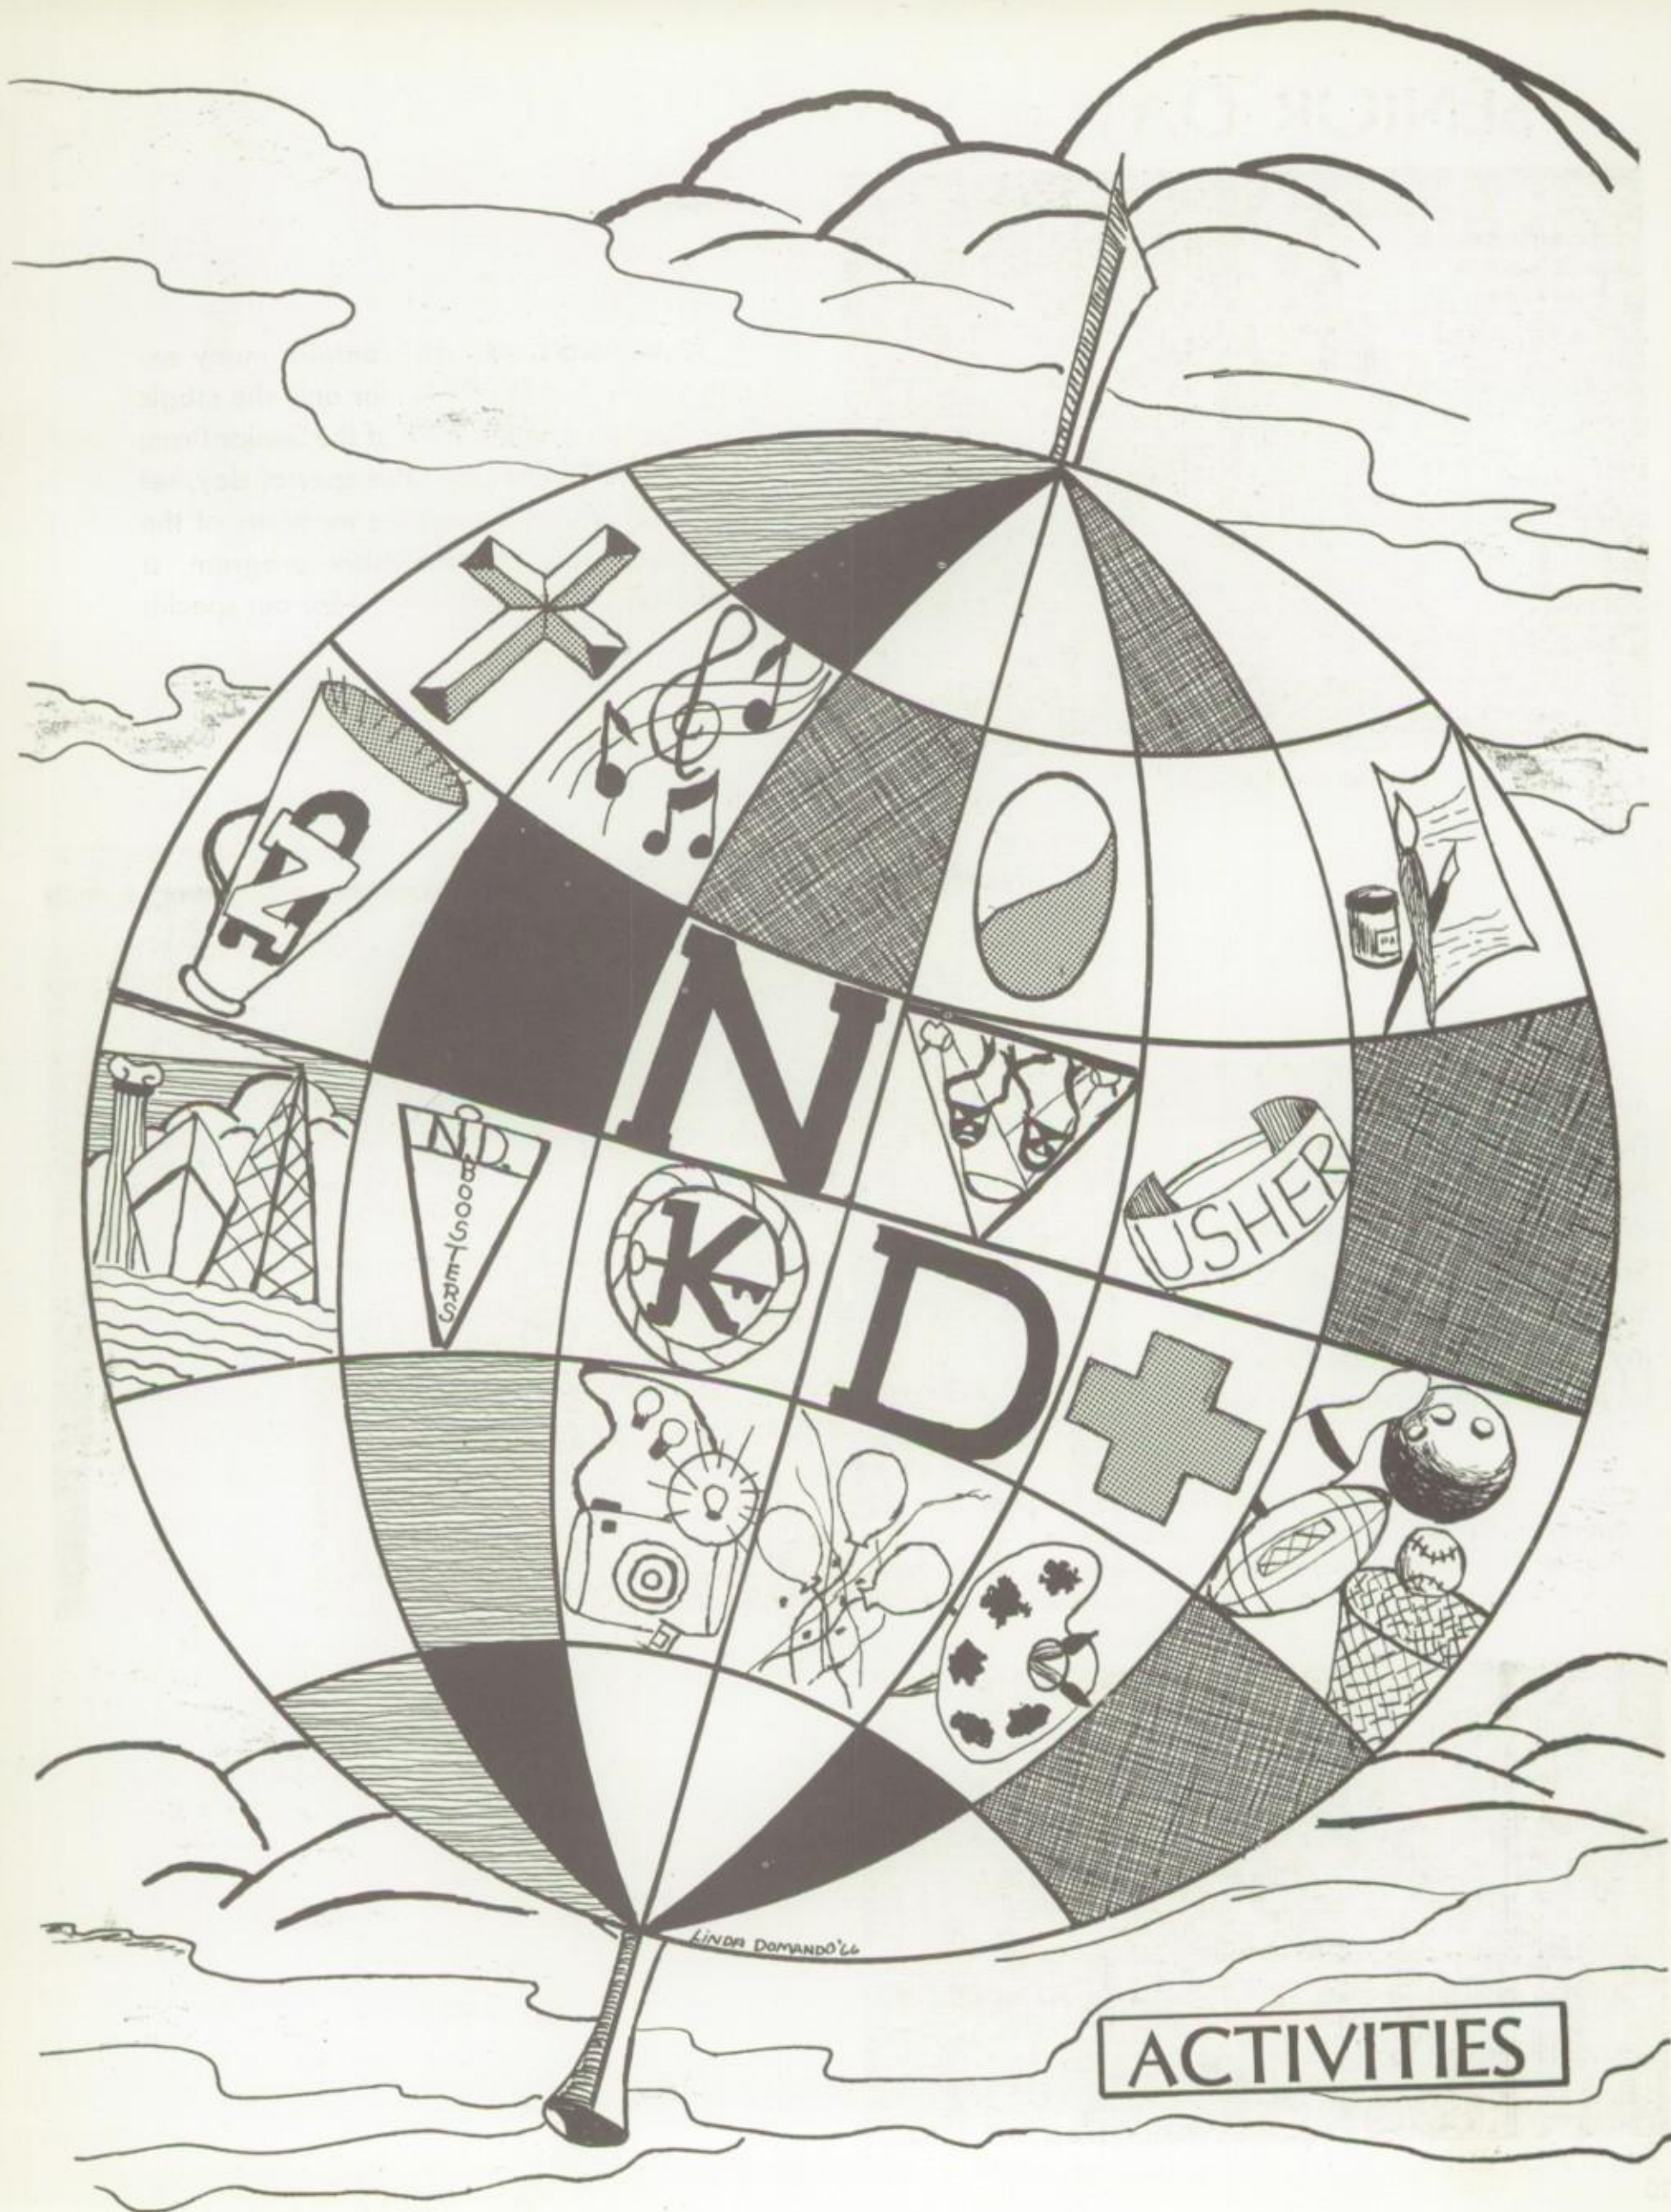

Miss Kathleen Sawick, Senior Social Adviser

New Dorp's calendar contains many exciting events, but for the senior only the magic of graduation and the thrill of the Senior Prom can outshine Senior Day. This special day, set apart from others, honors the members of the graduating class. An assembly program, a dance—all for "Seniors only"—for our special day.

The march to assembly, the melodramatic Curse You, Jack Dalton, addresses by Mr. Sol Feinberg and Senior Class President Dan Siani, thanks to Miss Sawick and to Senior Day Chairman Joe Fastaia—this was the joy, the excitement, the "wonderful memory that always will last."

ACTIVITIES

GENERAL ORGANIZATION

G.O. OFFICERS: Larry DiPietro (President), MaryLou Pakidis (V.P.), Mr. Robert Morris (Faculty Adviser), Sally Marie Colello (Secretary), Andy Smith (Treas.).

The office of G.O. President has been one of the most challenging experiences of my life. Fulfilling the obligations required by this office was an arduous task. The rewards, however, were great. It was a privilege to work with Mr. Morris, Mr. Greenspan and with the other G.O. officers. I'll never forget this year and the opportunities it presented to exercise those qualities of citizenship and leadership which I admire. It was truly a great honor to serve the student body of New Dorp High School.

Larry DiPietro,
G.O. President

As G.O. Vice President I was truly honored to have the opportunity to serve the student body, in some small way. The rewards I received, however, heavily outweighed my duties. The most memorable of these rewards shall always be the privilege of getting to know and work with the students and faculty of New Dorp High School.

Mary Lou Pakidis,
G.O. Vice President

I am very grateful to the students of New Dorp High School for giving me the opportunity to serve New Dorp High School as G.O. Secretary. I will always remember the wonderful experience of working with Larry, Mary Lou, Andy, and Mr. Morris. I shall look back on this year, and fondly cherish its memories.

Sally Marie Colello,
G.O. Secretary

This past year as G.O. Treasurer has been most rewarding for me. There have been many experiences and tangible rewards; but more important than these are the profound insights into life that others have given me. Working closely with my fellow officers and being of some service to the student body and faculty of New Dorp have helped me mature greatly. I have gained much by learning that life gives to the giver. It has been a privilege to serve, and an honor well worth remembering to have represented you, the students of New Dorp High School, as your G.O. Treasurer.

Andy Smith,
G.O. Treasurer

G.O. CABINET

To mold New Dorp into a miniature democracy, to give each student the privilege and duty of sharing in that democracy—these are the dual responsibilities of the officers and cabinet of the General Organization of New Dorp High School. With the guidance and cooperation of their faculty adviser, Mr. Robert Morris, they are able to formulate and operate an effective student government.

Challenging tasks face the G.O. administration: discussing and solving problems, appropriating funds, organizing committees, and providing student activities; yet, purpose, dedication, and hard work have combined to meet and overcome each challenge. The entire student body has been the beneficiary of these accomplishments.

Ever working, ever striving to make our G.O. the best in the city, its officers attend and sponsor Borough and City Council meetings. Exchanging ideas and sharing experiences with other teenagers entrusted with student government enriches the knowledge and understanding of our representatives and, ultimately, of each of us.

We have given to the officers and cabinet of the General Organization our confidence, and they have, through their effort and good will, justified that confidence.

New Dorp's legislative process rests in the capable hands of the Student Council, working with the G.O. Officers and Cabinet. These representatives serve as the voice of the student body. It is, therefore, incumbent upon the student body to elect qualified members who will serve conscientiously and intelligently.

Members of the Student Council meet to make decisions concerning school policies and school functions. This is democracy in action, democracy at work, in the world of New Dorp.

Scholarship. Service. These are the requirements for membership in Arista, New Dorp's Scholastic Honor Society. Academic achievement, earned through interest and application, must be accompanied by a desire to serve, translated into actual service to the school.

ARISTA OFFICERS: Row 1—Secretary—Toula Kontogeorge, Girl Leader—Nadine Bosak. Row 2—Treasurer—Allan Shapiro, Boy Leader—Arthur Lucia.

Arista members give enthusiastically of their time and energy to serve as monitors during exams, ushers at theatre functions, and fund raisers during the Christmas Seal drive. This service is rewarded by the satisfaction of having served. School recognition is shown at a special annual assembly honoring Arista members and their wise and able director, Mrs. Hertha Winsch. This year's assembly was followed by dining at HEAD-QUARTERS RESTAURANT and attending THE ROAR OF THE GREASEPAINT, THE SMELL OF THE CROWD.

Arista members focus on the highest ideals, and help to make these ideals a reality in the world of New Dorp.

New Dorp's Pioneer serves as the eyes and ears of our school. No matter what the news—whether it be past, present, or future—the newspaper's staff presents it factually and interestingly.

Writers, artists, and photographers are competently led by Miss Spies to publish a school paper that closely resembles a daily newspaper from the presses of the city publisher. Students learn the art of journalism as they correct copy, prepare galleys, and arrange columns. Each member of the staff is rewarded when New Dorp students greet a new issue with admiring approval.

Row 1—Nadine Bosak, Joan Sigeti, Lucille Fundaro, Jean Flynn, Gay Marino. Row 2—Henry Boody, Sharon Seegitz, Anna Cuccia, Linda Vasta, Darlene Orteneau, Irene Hyde, Tad Smith.

Perhaps the most anticipated feature of New Dorp High School is the annual publication of our yearbook, the Argonaut. It is a difficult task to condense all the people, events, and functions of four years in New Dorp into one book; a group of Seniors has attempted such a task. Under the direction of Miss Damrau, with Mr. Miller supervising the art work, and Miss Ueberwasser managing business matters, the 1966 Argonaut has been successfully completed and will hold fond recollections of New Dorp.

Last year, the Spectrum, a literary magazine, was introduced, adding its name to the list of New Dorp's publications. Now an annual tradition, the Spectrum is supervised by Miss Grace Murphy. The editorial staff consists of members of the Creative Writing class. The magazine displays samples not only of the literary talent of the students but also of their artistic talent. The Spectrum promises to rank as one of New Dorp's finest examples of student initiative and talent and student-faculty cooperation.

Officers: Mary Mangiacasale, Candy Nattland.

Are you curious about school activities? You need not look any farther than the walls of New Dorp. There, in colorful and creative posters, is information concerning social, educational, and athletic activities. Mr. Robert Morris has guided the group to new standards of excellence in advertising "what's new at New Dorp."

CLUBS

THE MENORAH CLUB

To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:
A time to be born, and a time to die;
A time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted

A time to seek,
A time to keep,

Ecclesiastes 4.3

The Menorah Club attempts to plant within its members the seeds of their Judaic heritage. A realization of this heritage and its many values, it is hoped, will enable the Jewish students of New Dorp High School to apply to the problems of the present the lessons of the past. Discussions led by the Spiritual Adviser, Rabbi Philip Book of Congregation B'nai Israel, Mr. Sol Feinberg, New Dorp's Administrative Assistant, Harriette L. Goldberg, Faculty Adviser, and by guest speakers from all walks of life attempt to foster a greater awareness of the Jewish heritage that is the proud possession of each Jew.

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

—John III, 16

The Trinity Club examines the doctrines of the Christian Faith and attempts to use them effectively in modern life. Under the direction of Mrs. Martin and guest speakers, students of the Protestant faith share personal convictions and deepen their faith.

THE NEWMAN CLUB

OFFICERS: Ronnie Nicita, Girl Leader; George Scrivani, Boy Leader; Anne Pitman, Sec. & Treas.

We live in an era of change; nowhere is that change more evident than in the reforms and innovations of the Second Vatican Council. The Newman Club offers Catholic students at New Dorp High School an opportunity to study the changes—to participate in the new liturgy, to examine doctrines, and to learn how those doctrines can become part of their lives. The members of the club, under the guidance of Miss Cox, analyze the problems faced by today's teenagers. They join together in faith and purpose at the Corporate Communion Breakfast.

Seated: Toulia Kontogeorge, Sec.; Virginia Sherry, Corr. Sec. Standing: Roger MacCormack, Treas.; Allan Shapiro, Pres.; Arthur Lucia, Vice Pres.

"Though we cannot outvote them,
we will outargue them."

—Samuel Johnson

During its second year as an extra-curricular activity at New Dorp High School, the Debate Society has widened its scope and expanded its membership. Under the guidance of Mr. Raymond Long and Mr. Thomas Kiffin, members of the Society attempt to discuss the pros and cons of important issues. The Society has met with early success with many reputable victories and has established a precedent for future New Dorpers to follow.

Row 3—John Whyte, James Drake, June Laborante, Joseph Hemmes, Vincent Tropeano. Row 4—Eileen Bennett, Walter Bryan, Frank Emma, Richard Goldsmith, William Leykam, Peter Crotty.

THE DISCUSSION CLUB

"It is better to debate a question without settling it, than to settle it without debate."

Many problems are solved because those involved are willing to listen to the other side of the story; yet, there are, unfortunately, many countries whose representatives refuse to enter into discussion with a view to compromise. The Discussion Club provides an arena in which each member is permitted to voice his opinion, even if that opinion contradicts the beliefs of other members. These differences of opinion lead to analysis and discussion of current problems. A solution is reached through compromise, and members receive practical knowledge of the working of democracy.

THE FUTURE TEACHERS GROUP

"The true aim of everyone who aspires to be a teacher should be, not to impart his own opinions, but to kindle minds."

The educators of tomorrow, meeting under the guidance of Miss Janet McAuliffe and Mr. Renato DeMaria, receive a foretaste of their chosen profession—its rewards and its problems. They discuss teaching techniques and ways of improving teacher-student relationships. Guest speakers, films, and visits to neighboring schools help these future teachers to explore opportunities in education and to gain further insight into what their future holds.

"Light is the task where many share the toil."

The members of the Junior Red Cross, under the guidance of Mrs. Rubinger, bring happiness to hundreds of children with the annual Christmas stocking drive which unites New Dorp students as they share with others.

THE MODERN DANCE CLUB

"They move easiest, who learn to dance"—Pope

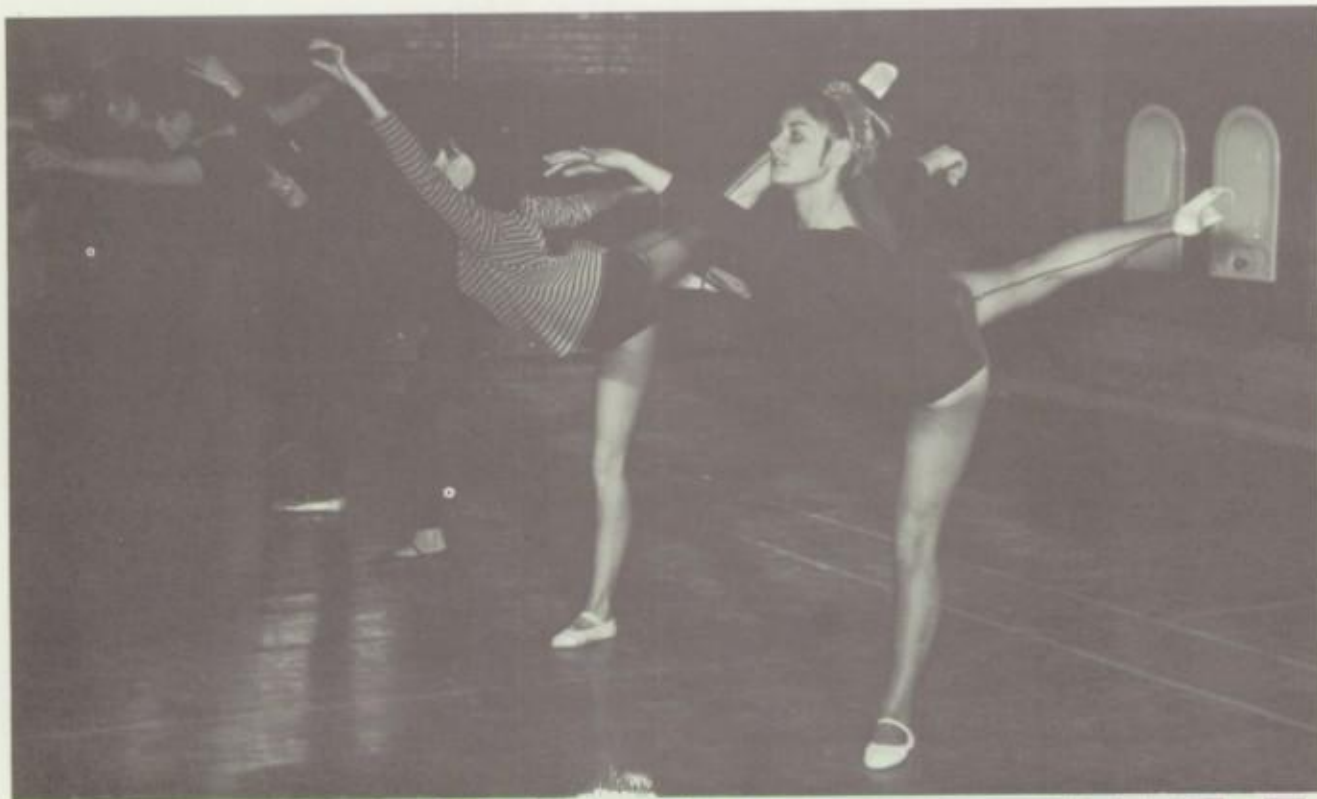

Modern dance—an art form expressed through the medium of movement by the dancer's instrument, the body, to express ideas, experiences, and emotions.

Using easy motions as a guide, the Modern Dance Club has studied all the elements of the dance, including body design, rhythm, dynamic line, and locomotion. Under the guidance of Mrs. Elaine Goldstein, each member choreographed and performed her own composition for the club. In its second year, the club is now planning for its second performance at the Spring Festival.

Row 1—Mrs. Elaine Goldstein, Faculty Advisor; Roe Russo, Janice Schaffer, Pat Consaho, Treas.; Jean McLaughlin, Pres.; Linda Capozzi, Vice-Pres.; Suzette Roberts, Sec.; Joan Piccotto, Emily D'Amico. THE FINE ARTS CLUB

"As the sun colors flowers, so does art color life."

—Lubbock

The Fine Arts Club under the direction of Mrs. Kacsur attempts to learn the different techniques of color and form which constitute great art. In developing their talents the members render a great service to the school by creating artwork to beautify the hall and display cases.

THE ADVANCED BIOLOGY CLUB

The Advanced Biology Club attempts to give students interested in this science a more advanced knowledge of living organisms and life functions. These students under the direction of Mr. Buegler explore the wonders found beneath the lens of a microscope.

Row 1—Noele Derr, Susan Fenton, Charles Gordan, Treas.; Beth Svoboda, Vice Pres.; Michael Beinert, Pres.; Barbara Holtermann, Sec't; Paul Schick, Philip Wise. THE SCIENCE CLUB

"Men love to wonder, and that is the seed of our science."

Although the Science Club has one of the smallest memberships, it is one of the most interesting clubs that is offered at New Dorp. Under the direction of Mr. Tolnes, the members go on field trips during the course of which they collect specimens which they later identify. During the colder months, they watch films of great scientific interest. The aim of the Science Club is to promote interest and intellectual curiosity in all of the sciences. Although a program of varied activities is offered, the members are encouraged to work on their own projects.

THE LATIN CLUB

"The knowledge of the ancient languages is mainly a luxury."

The civilization of the great Roman Empire is relived by the members of our Latin Club who learn to appreciate the contributions of a language which is far from dead, but rather lives on in our own. The films and discussions held at each meeting familiarizing the participants with the ancient Latin language provide the Latin club members with a foundation on which to build future knowledge.

OFFICERS: Sec't, Nadine Bosak, Vice Pres., Bruce Nilsen; Pres., Dagny Eversen; Treas., George Scrivani.

Row 1—Sally Marie Colello, Kathie Fry, Lisa Solaas, Kaaren Carlson, Kevin McCarthy. Row 2—Lois Labowitz, Steve Taylor, Louis Boheda, Sarah Searl, Alice Durke. THE FRENCH CLUB

Peter Yovu, President; Walter Bryan, Treasurer; Gail Heavey, Secretary; Ronnie Nicita, Vice President.

The activities of the French Club are directed toward enriching knowledge of its members in the conversational and cultural aspects of French. On this year's agenda were seeing French movies, dining at a French restaurant, and publishing a French newspaper. Members of the French Club are responsible for planning and setting up bulletin boards depicting various elements of life in France. At the meetings we play such games as Password and the Match Game, all in French. Our faculty adviser Mrs. Milazzo combines fun and laughter with an enriching experience.

THE MAZZINI CLUB

The Mazzini Club, under the guidance of Mr. Ruggeri, has a membership interested in Italian language and culture. Members learn more fully the benefits accruing to each of us from the rich treasury of Italian art, music, and literature.

THE ITALIAN HONOR SOCIETY

Those students in the various Italian classes who have attained a 90% average in that language are awarded membership in the Italian Honor Society. These scholars, under the guidance of Mrs. Adele Farella, strive to broaden their appreciation of Italian by tutoring other students, viewing Italian movies, and visiting museums which display Italian works of art.

THE PAN-AMERICAN CLUB

OFFICERS: Treas., Lenore Cicchese; Pres., Carolina Rodriguez; Vice Pres., Valerie Parla; Faculty Advisor, Mr. Magnotti.

In the Pan American Club the participants obtain an understanding of Latin American culture and increase their knowledge of everyday life in these countries. The group under the supervision of Mr. Albert Magnotti practices fiery and exotic dances and studies Spanish culture.

Each member is better able to acquaint himself with the people of the Spanish speaking world. The warm sun and cool waters of Spain entice each and every one of the club's members.

One does not have to be a Spanish buff to join. You need only an ardent love of the Spanish culture for which our neighbors South of the border are so famous.

The Key Club of New Dorp High School, sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club, is one of three thousand Key Clubs in the United States and Canada. The members of the club, under the direction of Mr. Delicio, strive to project the American way of life through service to school and community. The magic word is "cooperation," through this cooperation qualities of leadership are fostered in the young men of today, the leaders of tomorrow.

Daniel Siani, Thomas Megna, Peter Yovu, Joseph Fastai, Charles McAteer, Allan Shapiro, Andy Smith.

THE CHESS CLUB

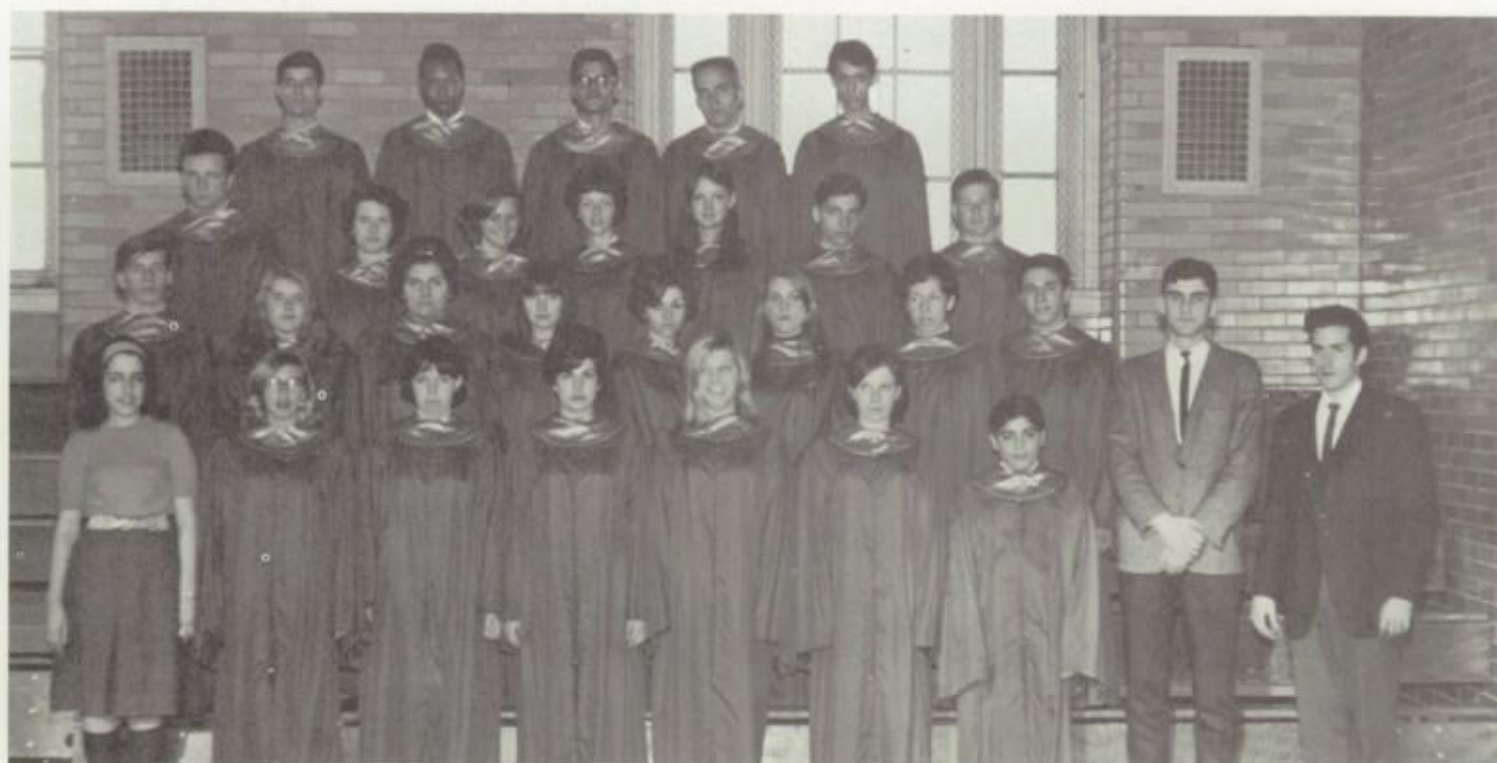

Seated—Vivian Treck, Mr. Hoch, Faculty Adv.; Ralph Welton. Standing — James McLaughlin Treas.; Christine Kirk, Pres.; Gloria Talcove, Vice Pres.; Eileen Bennett, Sec.

The Chess Club, under the direction of Mr. Hoch, seeks mastery of the ancient and fascinating game which has challenged fine minds of many lands for centuries. Members seek to learn intricate moves, and have entered into competition with teams from other schools.

The lighthouse of the mind, the illumination of reality, or the advocate of truth—identify it as you like. It provides a keen insight into the realms of human thought and activity. The study of books and attendance at lectures comprise only part of man's most unique organ, his mind.

New Dorp strives to develop the intellectual potential of its students. Our scholars are rewarded in various ways. They are honored at the traditional awards assemblies where they may receive certificates denoting excellence in subject areas, or they may receive Honor Keys which serve as tangible evidence of scholastic success. There is Arista, the school honor society, which provides an example for students who aspire to join ranks in behalf of academic improvement. There is our school newspaper, the Pioneer; our literary magazine, the Spectrum; and our yearbook, the Argonaut. These publications afford students an opportunity to express artistic and literary talent.

At New Dorp, the arms of scholarship stretch out to embrace all cultural functions—our school dramatic presentations, our annual Spring Festival, science fairs, or the transmission of further knowledge in the classroom.

Scholarship is much more than the study of history, mathematics, and grammar. It includes all facets of life that enrich and enhance the daily human experience. It is the lighthouse of the mind, the illumination of reality, and the advocate of truth; in essence these three metaphors constitute a description of what exists as an invisible, yet beautiful, communication between man and the universe.

The past year at New Dorp overflowed with sports excitement and color. It was a year that marked the burgeoning of a sport world consisting of traditional contests and a new era. The new era included the expansion of sports and sports attractions.

New Dorp embarked on its sport world in the early fall, as the young and inexperienced football squad kicked off the gridiron season.

The team opened with a heartbreaker, an 8-6 loss to Bayside. The Centrals then reeled off touchdown after touchdown topped by victory after victory. In the yearly football clash with neighbor rival Msgr. Farrell, the game ended as it had started in a 0-0 tie. After this encounter, the football team continued on its march to success. An 18-12 triumph against DeWitt Clinton gave Coach Somma his 100th victory as Central mentor. The season ended on a high note as New Dorp swept the Turkey festival against Curtis 18-0.

Upon the close of the football season, we then journeyed to the gym every Friday night where we witnessed the best of basketball games. The Centrals, coached by Art Oken, went on to "rack up" an exciting season on the hardwood. New Dorp also excelled in other sports. On the baseball field, the Centrals were SIHSL champs with a 10-4 record. At the local golf links, New Dorp came in swinging after the completion of a 6-4 slate. The bowling team also upheld our fine tradition of winning as New Dorp finished on top in the PSAL via a 7-1 season.

The new era in sports was pioneered with the installation of the track and gymnastics teams.

Track began in the fall under the able coaching of Mr. Welsh. The team, riddled with inexperience, was molded as the result of hard work on the part of both coach and players. Their dedication resulted in bringing New Dorp into the limelight on the local track scene. More sports are now traveling on the road to success.

Gymnastics, also begun this year, promises to become a popular sport at our school. Other results of this new era will be swimming and soccer teams to be inaugurated next fall. The greatest attraction evolving from New Dorp's great sport era will be the construction of our own stadium.

As our active days at New Dorp come to an end, we can look back with pride knowing that we were once part of that new era which began in our senior year, an era which will result in a wide world of sports at New Dorp.

At the start of the season, there were some doubts as to whether New Dorp could have a successful season with only 14 men returning from last year's squad. However, Mr. Somma and the team disproved these doubts as the Centrals went on to complete a fine season with a 6-1-1 record. Suffering an 8-6 opening day loss to Bayside, New Dorp worked and improved with each outing. The Centrals demonstrated a fine brand of ball, as they won most of the games in the second half. Included in this fine campaign were a tie with Farrell and an 18-12 victory over DeWitt Clinton which brought Coach Somma his 100th win as the New Dorp mentor. Mr. Somma didn't have to wait long for his next win, as New Dorp captured the Curtis game by an 18-0 score.

Coach Art Oken, now in his second year as the New Dorp coach, has continued to instill in his players the necessary ingredients—hustle, teamwork and spirit. The New Dorp players have in turn exhibited all of these qualities on the basketball court.

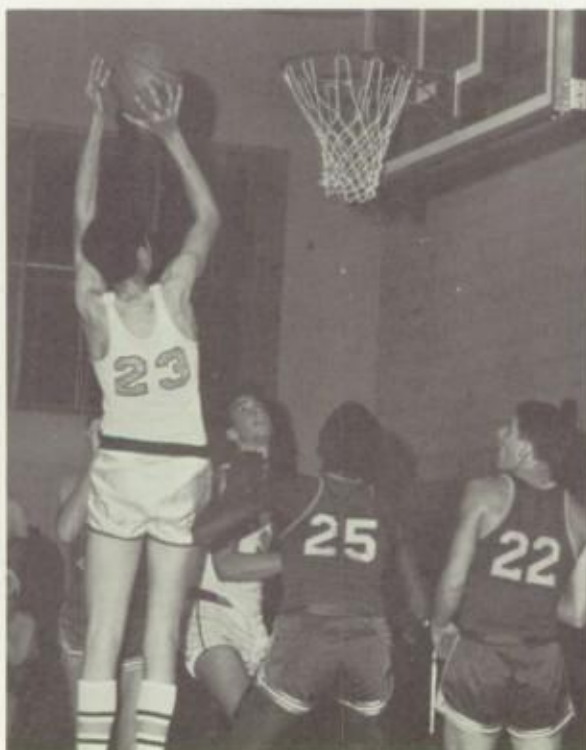

The Centrals won their opening game in the final minutes, beating Farrell 46-44 in the closing seconds. New Dorp then went on to defeat Holy Trinity, Augies and to win a final victory against Tottenville by a 72-62 score.

Included in this fine basketball season was the breaking of all New Dorp basketball records by the team captain Jim Signorile. Jim was the hub of the Central attack as he led the team in all departments and also won both the SIHSL and PSAL scoring titles.

The basketball season is over; we now can look back and recall all the exciting action during the season and look forward to next year when New Dorp will once again employ the best in basketball style and action.

We, the June 1966 graduates of New Dorp High School, have seen and experienced many things. We have had our own problems and anxieties. We have shared the excitement of G.O. elections, dances, and football games. This was our life at New Dorp.

But we lived another life, and, with the passing of time, we became ever more aware of that life. This other world outside New Dorp is the "real" world. The nations, the leaders, the conflicts—all belong to this world, and we, too, are part of it. Spectators for four years, we have been preparing to become active participants, roles which we shall assume. We will determine the future. It is ours, and we must and shall accept that responsibility.

In four years we have been witness to so many events both comic and tragic, both frightening and amusing.

We have seen the birth of new nations and have watched them struggle for survival in this hectic world. And we have seen some of our great leaders—John Kennedy, Adlai Stevenson, Winston Churchill, Albert Schweitzer, and Shastri—leave us.

We have seen another nation, Rhodesia, declare its independence from the mother country in a spark of rebellion even as we revolted two hundred years ago, and even as teenagers today are rebelling against tradition and authority, as evidenced by the Berkeley strike.

We have lived through the birth and death of the World's Fair, and pictures of its rubble have stirred memories.

We have seen many new and untraditional things: DeGaulle's run-off election, a new city government, the Ecumenical Council decisions, the silverless coins, and the second-division finish of the Yankees.

We have been amused by "Batman" and Maxwell Smart ("Would you believe . . .") and shocked by the transit strike, a massive power failure, and a water shortage. But we survived all.

We applauded the passage of a Civil Rights Act, an Anti-Poverty Act, and the beginning of a new program—Project Head Start.

We have seen the acceleration of the controversial war in Vietnam. We have witnessed debates, some in halls of Congress, over the extent of our commitment there. We have seen protest marches, the burning of draft cards, and the violence countered by violence, engendered in the heat of dispute.

Among the most important of events were the space flights and our program of space exploration. Since January 31, 1958 when the first U.S. satellite was launched, we have progressed rapidly. A sub-orbital flight, an orbital flight, the marathon flight of Borman and Lovell, the soft landing of a Russian space craft—these have thrilled and excited us. No longer is space flight a dream. It has become a reality. And now we look forward to a "new frontier" when man will no longer be confined to this planet, when interplanetary space travel will become a reality. This is for us. We want to embark on a new journey, but we must never forget that this is our home, this Mother Earth. And we must take care of our home for the present. It is our responsibility. Let us not shirk it. This generation is the key to a new world, and whatever we do makes an impression, however small, on this world. Will there be peace or will there be war? We must decide. Let us make the world a better place to live in, so that we may say with pride, "I lived here."

Senior Advisers

You, the members of the class of 1966, leave New Dorp with mixed feelings of sorrow and expectation—sorrow for the yesterday you leave behind, expectation for the tomorrow you go to meet. No other tomorrow has posed greater challenges; no other tomorrow has preferred greater dreams. You who are about to live, salute your challenges, fulfill your dreams!

Mario Cupo, College Adviser

Ralph Waldo Emerson has said that, "All life is an experiment. The more experiments you make the better. . . ." I might add to these words of wisdom that the more experiments one makes the more he can learn about himself, about others and about the world in which he functions. My years as Grade Adviser of the Class of 1966 (A-K) has brought me rewards which cannot be measured. You have made this year a most memorable experiment. Your cooperation, loyalty, respect and warmth have contributed to making me feel a very vital part of this, my first, graduating class. Long after you have left the halls of New Dorp High School, you shall continue to make me realize the truth of Emerson's words and shall provide me with the impetus to give to others what you, the members of the Class of 1966, have given me.

Harriette L. Goldberg, Grade Adviser

You have read; you have theorized; you have experimented; you have concluded. Now with the might of your new knowledge, you must resolve to set into motion the powers of your active mind. Never permit the brilliance of your mind, as it is today, to fade. Resolve to keep in motion those powers you now control.

Be ever aware that the powers of your critical judgments must be continually involved in active exploration so that they remain powerful. A finely polished and delicately worked precision instrument, your mind requires the unwearying toil of an interested workman to keep it tuned. It must be kept free of dust, cobwebs, and all else that would cause it to falter, to desist.

You are left the rich legacy of those statesmen John F. Kennedy, Adlai E. Stevenson and Sir Winston Churchill whose minds always and ever traveled in immeasurable realms. Be worthy of the inheritance.

Commit yourself now, as the hour of commencement draws near, to an imperishable concern for the life of your mind.

Carol A. McAuliffe,
Grade Adviser
